Chapter Meeting.

Mrs. M. Allen Chambers, of No. 262
West Main Street, entertained the Commonwealth Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at a delightful Hterary meeting yesterday arternoon.

Miss Elizabeth Mosby opened the program with a charming piano solo. Miss Mosby's playing was unusually fine. She showed not only talent, but much discrimination in the selection of her several numbers. She was also accompanist to the soloist of the evening.

Mrs. Robert Nelson read a most in-Mrs. Robert Nelson read a most instructive and well-prepared paper on "Virginia Colonial History," referring especially to Jamestown Island and its environments.

Mrs. Walter G. Duke's clear, sweet soprano so charmed her listeners that she was forced to respond to a very hearty encore.

Mrs. Nelson then gave a humorous reading, which, with a near selection reading, which, with a near selection.

No paraphrase can possibly intensify the forceful phraseology of the original narrative. Pharaon's object was decimations. Bailiffs with hard hearts and bludgeons were at a premium. They afflicted with their burdens. They afflicted with their burdens. They intended nothing else than to break in pleces and crush the captive race. They embittered their lives. The taily of bricks required was always waxing, though the material to make them steadily waned. affliction, sortow, oppression, sighing, groaning are oft recurring words in this dismal chronicle of slavery.

This most prolonged and irritating bondage was, however, like the ax, the very blow of which sets free the pent-up fragrance of the sadalwood. It was like the rude tramping after which the camomile emits its richest odor. Egypt, too, was the flery furnace where a loose population was fused into a compact nationality. Nothing surpasses common suffering in accomplishing this end. Their like pains and indignities made them feel alike—hope and aspire alike.

And as "sharp frosts nourish corn," so did the sharp afflictions of Israel in Egypt nourish their graces. They were shut up to faith in God. No eye pitied them, no arm could deliver them but His. They were led to admit the justice o God's anger at their manifold gins, and to repent of them. Their aspiration for their divinely-promised "rest" in Canaan was quickened thereby.

When the great assay was finished, God quenched the furnace fires with These items were carefully mounted on Irish linen leaves and bound in six volumes, 400 pages to the book. A cover of genuine seal was appropriately lettered in gold and the entire material, representing the work of many people for several months, has just been delivered to Mrs. Payne at Milwaukee.

Mr. Burrelle, who makes a specialty of this unique method of preserving family history, also compiled four volumes containing the let-ters, telegrams and cards of condolence received by the family, all constituting a family heirloom that will be handed down to future generations,

This work is one of the several developments of the press clipping industry, and Mr. Burrelle has made a special study of the work he created several years ago.
